

In reference to 96.1 KLOVE in central Missouri, this station is the only one I listen to, particularly in my vehicle. It provides me with a way to keep from getting angry at other drivers doing impatient and thoughtless things, and constantly reminds me of my faith and its importance in my life. Its message is positive and promotes the Judeo-Christian values that are continually undermined by the majority of other radio stations' content, values which I believe serve as a preservative in my area and wherever this type of music is broadcast. If KLOVE were to be shut down, there would be a void of decent listening material suitable for children as well as teens and adults and a loss of positive influence for families and individuals. I hope that any thought of closing his station will be seriously considered in the light its message and content and the ratio of how many other choices we have who prefer this type of station.
